

About Hucklow Summer School 2013:

The core purpose of Hucklow Summer School is religious education: we focus on matters of religion and spirituality and intend to draw out and develop the potential of all participants. We aim to provide a balanced programme, offering a rich mix of activities for both the heart and head, and a variety of optional sessions showcasing a range of worthwhile activities which participants might "take home" and try out in their own congregations and communities. We also ensure that there are plenty of opportunities for relaxed fellowship and fun during the week.

Small Group Activities are at the heart of summer school and provide a safe environment for deep exploration and personal relating. Morning Theme Talks provide a contrast in style to the small group activities, stimulate dialogue on religious and spiritual matters, and allow participants to engage with the topic on an intellectual level. Summer School also provides opportunities for daily spiritual practice such as morning meditation and evening epilogues.

Hucklow Summer School brings fellow Unitarians together and allows them to get to know each other deeply and form lasting and meaningful connections. It is our hope that participants will be inspired and challenged to develop and promote high-quality religious education activities when they return home.

Hucklow Summer School Panel

Currently, the Hucklow Summer School Group consists of six members: Liz Birtles, Caroline Blair, Kate Buchanan, Michael Dadson, Chris Thompson and Alison Thursfield. The panel is responsible for organising Summer School 2013. It has a rolling membership to maintain continuity. New members are co-opted, to maintain the necessary balance of skills, as one or two members step down from the panel after Summer School each year. Summer School participants will have an opportunity to put names forward for consideration during the week at Great Hucklow.

Allocation of Places and Workshops at Summer School

The panel aims to attract approximately $\frac{1}{3}$ newcomers to participate in the Summer School every year. We have set a deadline of 15th April 2013 for receipt of applications to Summer School. Shortly after this date, places will be allocated by the members of the panel, giving preference to newcomers and ministerial students, subject to the constraints of available accommodation. Please note that deposit cheques will be banked on receipt and if your application is unsuccessful we will refund at a later date.

Afternoon and Evening Sessions

Do let us know if you have any particular skills or abilities that you would like to share during the week (e.g. music, dancing, art and craft ideas, leading a workshop etc.) by giving some details on your booking form. Members of the panel will contact potential session leaders in early summer, after Summer School places have been allocated, to finalise the timetable.

Young People's Programme

This year, there will be an intergenerational engagement group, and extra activities for young people during morning theme talks. Children will be the responsibility of their parents/carers at other times.

Minister of the Week

Rev. Elizabeth Birtles will be providing pastoral care and staff support as our 'Minister of the Week'.

Hucklow Summer School 2013

Morning Theme Talks: "Living at the Edge: how do we find meaning in the margins where we find ourselves?"

Our team of speakers will be: Kate Buchanan, Jim Corrigall, Winnie Gordon, Rob Gregson, John Naish

Morning Engagement Groups:

Each person is part of a small workshop group which meets for two hours each day to explore a given theme:

A: On the Edge of Nature with Nancy Crumbine and Julie Dadson

Enlivening our awareness of the sacred in the Hucklow landscape

We will walk, write, sing, laugh and build... a simple natural shelter for meditation. We seek to encourage in each other the awareness of the exquisitely complex divinity of nature as it brings us time and again to the edge that transforms each of us into creature and creator. We will draw from ecology, conservation, and the writings of naturalist poets such as Thoreau, Emerson, John Muir and Mary Oliver.

B: Postcards from the Edge with Sheena Gabriel and Stephen Crowther

Art can provide a powerful means for discovering hitherto unknown aspects of ourselves in relation to our world, our journey through life and the Divine. Participants will be encouraged to take gentle risks in playfully and creatively exploring those aspects that lie on and beyond the edges of everyday awareness. We will use a range of media and activities including: painting, clay, collage, found objects; responding to words, images, music, meditation and visualisation, as a means of exploration. The group will be invited to reflect on their responses to the creative process and share any new understandings and insights gained from their experience. The group is open to all and requires no artistic skill to participate.

C: Recovering Who You Are with Michael Dadson and Alison Thursfield

A reflective writing workshop taking stock of our lives

From a simple, game-based start, we aim to help you gradually to see the big and bigger picture of your life, noticing the themes and tendencies which have given it the unique character of You, and picking up the threads you will choose to use in continuing to weave your future

D: An Odyssey for the Soul with Jim Blair and John Harley

Inspired by Homer's Odyssey, we will explore the concept of our adventurous journey through life. We will have opportunities to explore our lives through stories, play, improvisation, art, drama, and whole host of creative activities. Join us for a safe and inspiring journey where we will meet our archetypes, heroes/heroines, shadows and hopes and fears. We will explore approaches to better enable us to manage and celebrate our challenges and joys. Absolutely no previous experience of drama or art is necessary – just curiosity and willingness to be creative together.
